Appendix A

Preamble

1. There is a need for a disciplinary procedure that is not only fair but is seen to be fair.
2. The General Committee (G Com) should not be the investigating authority, judge, jury and arbitrator.

Procedure

3. When a serious complaint/allegation is made about a member of the club or a member's guest, then the complaint/allegation should be investigated by a Disciplinary Investigation Sub-committee (DISC) to establish all the facts appertaining to the complaint/allegation.
4. A serious complaint/allegation is defined as one which would
 - a. merit investigation by the police
 - b. require a competitor to be reported to the relevant NGB as required by their rules
 - c. deliberately brings the name of SASC into disrepute.
 - d. breach the covenant of the lease
5. On receipt of a complaint/allegation the G Com must decide whether or not the complaint/allegation is serious as defined by section 4. If it is found that the complaint/allegation is serious, then a thorough investigation should be made. This should involve collecting all the relevant evidence from the accused, accuser and witnesses. This should be done by the DISC. The member(s) should be suspended whilst an investigation is made. A decision on suspension will be made by the Commodore and any available committee members.
6. The DISC should consist of three established members of the club, not necessarily Officers or G Com members. They should have no connection to either party or the complained about occurrence; disqualifying declarations of interest may be made by: the members, the complainant or the complaine. Their report should be made in writing to the next committee meeting if at all possible.
7. The DISC should investigate the event, the lead up to the event and the follow up to the event. It must be aware that the report it produces, concentrates only on facts and not opinions or hearsay (second hand) evidence.
8. Nothing in this procedure should be used to stop any individual, the G Com or the DISC reporting the matter to the relevant authority.
9. On receipt of the report from the DISC the G Com should decide on whether the complaint/allegation is upheld, dismissed or needs further investigation. The latter choice is only an option if it is likely to lead to a decision of 'upheld or dismissed'.
10. Only when the G Com has decided that the complaint/allegation is upheld can any consideration to a sanction be given. At this point the guilty party should be allowed to make a statement before the decision on sanctions is made.
11. Neither the person making the complaint/allegation nor the person against whom the complaint/allegation is made; or any member of their respective 'family groups' should be involved in any part of the process.
12. If the complaint/allegation is deemed not to be 'serious' as defined in section 4 then the matter should be dealt with by the senior non-involved Flag Officer. It is expected that the G Com would support his/her decision.
